

IN SENATE
OF
THE UNITED STATES,

JANUARY 20, 1818.

The Committee of Commerce and Manufactures, to whom was referred a letter from Julie Plantou, to the President of the Senate, proposing to sell to the United States an allegorical painting of the treaty of Ghent,

REPORT:

That, in the opinion of the committee, it is not expedient to purchase the said painting for the United States.

IN SENATE

THE UNITED STATES

JANUARY 20, 1912

The Committee on Commerce and Manufactures to whom was referred a bill from the House to amend the act of the President proposing to sell to the United States an additional painting of the treaty of China.

REPORT

That in the opinion of the committee it is not expedient to purchase the said painting for the United States.